Commenting on the capital raising, Arika’s Managing Director, Justin Barton, said:

“We are delighted by the strong level of investor support for this capital raising, which we believe reflects the quality and scale of the opportunity in front of us at our two key WA gold projects.

“We are delighted to welcome a number of prominent resource-focused institutional investors as shareholders as part of this raising, which has also been strongly supported by existing shareholders and the Company’s board and management team.
